

Dear $contact,

You expressed a real need and desire in your life. I'm sorry we are not able to help you in this area. However, I do know that the only way you will experience God's peace and plan for your life will be to walk in a right relationship with Him. Walking filled with Christ offers more than we realize when we are looking for love. Are you involved in a strong, Bible-believing church? It is there you can find fellowship with believers you can share these issues with and can give you wise counsel.

Having a relationship with Jesus is the only way to satisfy your deepest longing for love and acceptance. Psalm 16:11 says, "At His right hand there are pleasures forevermore."

Please write back if you are interested in a relationship with Jesus Christ.

God bless,
Grace to you!
